To whom it may concern

Open reference for Cox and Allen

As an architect, I have worked with Cox and Allen on several projects including in 2006 the refurbishment of an office building in Barrow-in-Furness with a contract value of £450k

For this project, Cox and Allen proved to be a well organised and conscientious firm of builders. The contracts manager and site agent took particular care over all aspects of the project, especially with regard to the quality of finishes and consideration of the building occupants.

Cox and Allen were not claim orientated and the final account was settled amicably.

I am currently working on the design stage of an office extension with a contract value of £3M that should commence on site in October 2009 and am pleased that Cox and Allen have accepted my invitation to tender for the role of Main Contractor.

Yours sincerely

C. Bugler.
